Explanatory note to the standard licence conditions
(This note is not part of the licence and is not intended to be comprehensive)

The standard conditions apply to all licences and additional conditions may be imposed at the discretion of the licensing authority.

Amongst other things, these regulations require a licence-holder to:

- carry out a safety risk assessment of the activities covered by the licence; and
- identify the control measures necessary to ensure so far as reasonably practicable the safety of anyone taking part in those activities.

Standard condition (a) requires the licence-holder to make appropriate arrangements to keep the safety risk assessment up to date and to implement the control measures identified.

The remaining standard conditions detail various practical measures that the licence-holder must take to ensure adequate levels of safety.

The Health and Safety Executive was designated the Adventure Activities Licensing Authority by Designation Order (SI 2007/447).
