

Wildlife Biologist Answer Key

Kids.gov: <http://go.usa.gov/cjgk5> | YouTube: <https://youtu.be/MmCCrV1RI9Y>

1. What is conservation?

A: Conservation is the protection of animals, plants, and habitats so future generations can enjoy the landscapes we have today.

2. What is a refuge?

A: A set of land and water specifically for the protection of wildlife and endangered species.

3. What do Wildlife Biologists do with the data (information) they collect in the field?

A: Wildlife Biologists use the data they collect to analyze the trend are and see what the populations are doing.

4. According to Chelsea McKinney, what are some things kids can do to protect wildlife?

A: Some things kids can do to protect wildlife is be knowledgable, share information, explore the outdoors, and make observations.

5. While at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Services, what kinds of animals did Chelsea McKinney get to study?

A: Some animals Chelsea has studied include Puffins, Loons, Moose, Delmarva Fox Squirrels.

Brought to you by

