

COVID-19 Guidance for Food Truck Workers

OSHA is committed to protecting the health and safety of America's workers and workplaces during these unprecedented times. The agency will be issuing a series of alerts designed to keep workers safe.

The following steps can help reduce the risk of exposure to the coronavirus among food truck workers:

- Encourage workers to stay home if they are sick.
- Encourage workers to wear face coverings over their nose and mouth to prevent spread of the virus.
- Maintain at least six feet between co-workers and customers, where possible.
- Use gloves to avoid direct hand contact with food items.
- Establish designated pick-up zones for customers and encourage physical spacing while waiting in line.
- Use “no-touch” delivery and payment options, if possible.
- Emphasize effective hand hygiene including washing hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds or use of an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol.
- Regularly clean and disinfect all touchpads, countertops, and seating areas with Environmental Protection Agency-approved cleaning chemicals from List N or that are labeled as effective against the coronavirus.
- Encourage workers to report any safety and health concerns.
