The Worldwide Fistula Fund

Childbirth injuries are ruining the lives of women all over the developing world. Wherever obstetric fistula is found, the Worldwide Fistula Fund is bringing hope

Our enduring mission is to promote excellent, ethical whole-person care for women with obstetric fistulas. Our strategy is to band together and support a network of committed individuals with fistula expertise who share this common ideal. To this end we will:

- Support the direct provision for high-quality clinical care for women with obstetric fistulas.
- Promote excellent training for fistula surgeons incorporating these values.
- Advocate relentlessly for the unmet needs of the whole person from suffering from fistulas.
- Encourage scientifically valid research in fistula treatment and prevention.

Fistula Surgery

Obstetric fistula is unique among the world's great public health issues in that both the prevention and treatment of fistula involve surgery. We are unashamed to have VVF surgery as one of our major emphases

Maternal Mortality

A maternal death is the death of a woman who is pregnant or who has been pregnant within six weeks of the time of her death. Maternal mortality is the field of medicine that studies the causes of maternal deaths and tries to prevent them. Each year approximately 524,000 women die from complications of pregnancy and childbirth. Of these deaths, 99% occur in impoverished, developing countries---and for every woman who dies, another 40 or 50. read the full article

About The Worldwide Fistula Fund

The Worldwide Fistula Fund (an Illinois not-for-profit corporation) is a public charity organized for the purpose of supporting international medical education and research on the problem of obstetrical trauma in the developing world. The Worldwide Fistula Fund is a tax-exempt charity under section 501(c)(3) of the United States Internal Revenue Code. The Worldwide Fistula Fund was originally organized as The Worldwide Fund for Mothers Injured in Childbirth in 1995, and was subsequently reorganized under its new name as the Worldwide Fistula Fund in 2003.

The most serious form of childbirth trauma in developing countries is obstructed labor, which in turn leads to the development of obstetric fistulas. Obstructed labor occurs when the mother's pelvis is too small to permit the fetus to pass through during childbirth. This problem cannot be resolved without a surgical operation (Cesarean section), which is unavailable in many parts of the world, especially in Africa. Because most pregnant women in these countries cannot get emergency obstetric care, they may be in labor for days, only to deliver a stillborn infant at the end of their travail.

Prolonged obstructed labor results in severe damage to the soft tissues of the mother's pelvis from the unrelenting pressure of the fetal head which has been impacted against them during labor. This process cuts off the blood supply to large parts of the mother's vagina, bladder and rectum and results in the death of these tissues. This in turn creates large holes (fistulas) between these organs and leads to constant, uncontrollable loss of urine and stool through the vagina.

Unless they can get surgery, women with fistulas are doomed to a lifetime of nearly unendurable misery.

The goals of the Worldwide Fistula Fund are:

1. To support the repair of obstetric fistulas at multiple surgical centers throughout Africa and other parts of the developing world where the problem is greatest.
2. To improve access to curative surgical services for patients who have developed vesico-vaginal fistulas and to ensure that knowledge of fistula repair becomes part of the routine training of African obstetrician-gynecologists, urologists, and general surgeons;
3. To improve the surgical techniques used in dealing with routine fistula cases and to develop new techniques for treating patients with complicated fistulas and the problems associated with them;

4. To understand the social background of patients who develop vesico-vaginal fistulas and the cultural practices which permit the development of this condition;
5. To develop educational programs for vesico-vaginal fistula patients who are waiting to undergo surgical repair and for those recovering after surgery that will:
 - a) teach them to read or improve their literacy;
 - b) teach them skills that will allow them to earn a livelihood once they have been rehabilitated;
 - c) facilitate their reintegration back into their society; and
6. To develop education programs to improve traditional midwifery practices and change the beliefs that have promoted the development of vesico-vaginal fistulas in the past as part of an on-going grass-roots movement to aid the empowerment of African women regarding childbirth.

Contributions to the work of the Worldwide Fistula Fund are tax-deductible to the full extent of the law under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

What Is Fistula?

Obstetrical fistula may be one of the oldest pandemics in the world, long forgotten in wealthy nations, but a bitter reality in the poorer countries of the world. This epidemic does not result from some virulent infection or from violent conflict, but rather from the simple lack of basic healthcare.

Delivering a child is one of the most dangerous events facing a woman in sub-Saharan Africa. About one in 47,600 women in Ireland dies during labor. For a woman in Sierra Leone, the risk may be as high as one in six. This is twice the risk of death facing a Confederate infantryman during America's bloodiest war.

For women who survive untreated obstructed labor, terrible injuries can occur. The unrelenting pressure of the baby's head within the pelvis of the mother denies blood flow to her pelvic organs. Tissue dies, leaving large gaps. The term "Fistula" refers to the abnormal connection between two body organs. "Obstetric fistula" is the connection between the bladder and vagina (known as vesicovaginal fistula, or VVF), or rectum and vagina that results after loss of this pelvic tissue.

While Obstructed Labor causes the vast majority of fistulas, there are other factors. Learn more with this full article.

Because of this abnormal connection, these women are doomed to constant incontinence of urine and often feces, which pours unstopably into the vagina for the rest of the woman's life. Her injuries lead to a cascade of physical, social, and psychological catastrophes, leaving her outcast and enduring unimaginable pain.

To this day, we have no reliable statistics on the magnitude of this problem. Certainly there are hundreds of thousands, if not millions of women with VVF in the world, with many thousands of new cases each year.

In 1948, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of the United Nations said: "Everyone has the right to . medical care. Motherhood and childhood are entitled to special care and assistance". Therefore, we also see fistula as a basic violation of human rights, a call to action to cry out against this injustice.
