

Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP)

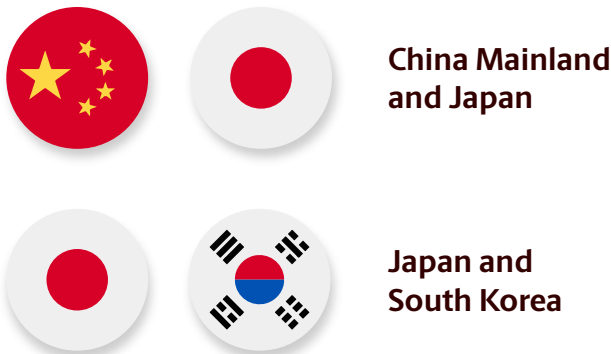

What you need to know

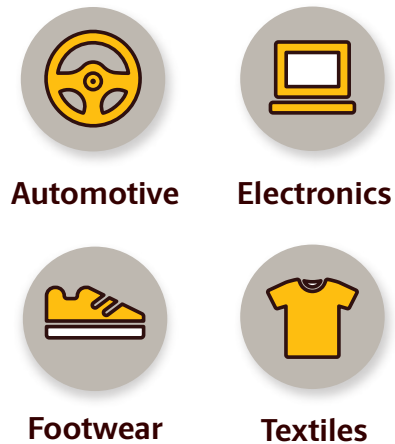

Key trade lanes and goods that will benefit

Establishes a level of free trade for the first time between:

Manufacturing goods expected to benefit the most from RCEP:

What it means for businesses

1 Greater Market Access & Tariff Reductions

Elimination and reduction of tariffs on at least 92% of goods over 20 years

2 Cumulative Rules of Origin

Allows exporters who source materials from participating economies to qualify for preferential tariffs under RCEP

3 Fast Customs Clearance

Quick customs clearance of small package shipments among most participating economies

4 Drives E-Commerce

Promotes the adoption of paperless trading, electronic authentication and online consumer protection measures across participating economies

5 Harmonised Standards and Protocols

Encourages that standards, technical regulations and conformity assessments are not obstacles to trade

How UPS® Can Help

Customs Brokerage and International Trade Advisory

With 80+ years of customs brokerage experience, UPS experts can advise on how your business can benefit from preferential tariffs under RCEP.

Wide Network Coverage

UPS's network spans more than 220 countries and territories worldwide. Coupled with a full suite of innovative services and solutions such as UPS WorldEase® and UPS Trade Assist™, we can help your business go global with confidence.

Advanced Shipping Solutions

Uncover strategic opportunities with our advanced shipping solutions to reduce costs, improve efficiency, and streamline your cross-border operations.

i For more information on how you can leverage RCEP to unlock new benefits for your business, contact your UPS account executive or visit UPS.com.