

Coronavirus State Fiscal Recovery Fund

Split Payments to State Governments

December 16, 2021

Under the Coronavirus State Fiscal Recovery Fund, Treasury has the authority to split funding into two equal payments for States and territories. Specifically:

The Secretary shall have the authority to withhold payment of up to 50 percent of the amount allocated to each State and territory (other than payment of the amount allocated under paragraph (3)(B)(ii) to the District of Columbia) for a period of up to 12 months from the date on which the State or territory provides the certification required under subsection (d)(1). The Secretary shall exercise such authority with respect to a State or territory based on the unemployment rate in the State or territory as of such date.

Based on this provision, Treasury will split the total amount of state funding into two equal payments for all State governments, except for States where the unemployment rate is 2.0 or more percentage points above its pre-pandemic level. For further discussion of Treasury's rationale for exercising the authority and setting the threshold, see the Interim Final Rule.<sup>1</sup>

The table below lists which State governments have received split payments (for States that have already certified).
